Purpose and functions of governance within Transnet

(the Company) is a public listed in terms of the Legal the South African Transport of 1989, with the South being its sole Shareholder. mandated to reduce the cost in South Africa, to enable and ensure the security of appropriate port, rail, and infrastructure in a efficient manner within activity and pricing

Memorandum of Incorporation with the provisions of the Management Act, No 1 of 1999, (A), the Companies Act, No 71 (as amended), the Companies Act, No 12 of 2005, as amended (the Companies Act) and the King IV Report on Corporate Governance for South Africa, a State-owned Company, the Company's primary legislation, the Company's compliance with the Act on page 4.

TRANSNET

Purpose and functions of governance within Transnet

The relationship with Government as the sole Shareholder, represented by the Minister of Public Enterprises (Shareholder Minister), is managed through the Shareholder's Compact, which sets out the annual Shareholder's targets for the Company. Safety, risk and sustainability remain key priorities for the Company.

The Board views good governance as a vital component in operating a successful and sustainable business, as well as providing assurance to stakeholders that the Company is well managed. Our formal governance structures guide the Company's ethical performance through codes, policies and processes, and ensure that structural accountability and principled behaviour are promoted throughout the Company. We acknowledge that good governance is ultimately about good decision-making, which is dependent on transparency and the availability of accurate information, particularly as it pertains to the Company's financial well-being and the quality of its relationships with all stakeholders.

Good corporate governance is a multi-faceted and ongoing process. It requires deep understanding of the interplay of strategy, value creation, the socio-economic and political environment, and the fundamentals of human nature. As we move into the new and exciting paradigm of the 4th Industrial Revolution, we need to ask ourselves whether our existing governance structures remain 'fit for purpose' considering current financial and economic conditions, emerging digital platforms, industry disruptions, and the need to upskill and adapt accordingly.

Bombardier and Transnet Freight Rail Celebrate Handover of First TRAXX Locomotive Africa at Ceremony in Durban

Rail technology leader Bombardier Transportation and the South African State-Owned Enterprise Company Transnet have celebrated the handover and acceptance of the first of 240 BOMBARDIER TRAXX locomotives for freight traffic in South Africa. The handover event took place on December 2, 2017, at Transnet Engineering's assembly plant in Durban attended by dignitaries from Transnet, Government officials, suppliers and the media.

Audrey Lelonne, Managing Director, Bombardier Transportation South Africa, said, "The handover and acceptance of the first TRAXX locomotive Africa is a fantastic news. We are committed to South Africa through local production, a strong local supply chain, job creation and transfer of technology in line with the latest localization and Broad-Based Black Economic Empowerment (BBBEE) requirements. We are proud to say that from the first to the last, each TRAXX locomotive Africa for our important customer Transnet Freight Rail will be manufactured in South Africa."

In March 2014, Transnet Freight Rail awarded Bombardier Transportation the contract to supply 240 electric locomotives, part of the National Infrastructure Plan which includes the investment of R30 billion into the modernization of the national rail system. The locomotives will be used to transport coal and ore on long routes between mines, ports and urban areas. Six of the 240 electric multi-system locomotives have been completed and operation is expected to start on the Transnet Rail network at the beginning of 2018.

Our Waiting Staff

We have a team of young and energetic waiting staff that are always at your service disposal. They are highly trained in serving food and beverages in a professional and friendly manner to agreed standards at all of our functions. They are also there to maintain the standards of presentation of all facilities to an appropriate restaurant quality during the event. They are just there to contribute to an ethos of 'right first time and on time' for food and beverage provision and service.

General Duties – Quality Management

They are trained to provide the following services:

- To demonstrate a sense of pride for the job and the organisation.
- To maintain a professional appearance in accordance with uniform standards.
- To assist in the cleanliness and general appearance of the dining and bar facilities whilst undertaking own duties.
- To ensure that tables and trays are presented to the agreed high standards before each service.
- To ensure that at the end of the service, tables and trays are cleared promptly and efficiently and the dining facilities and bar are left to the required high standard.
- To ensure health and safety of self and customers through best practice in all aspects in line with M Deluxe's Health and Safety Guidelines.

Skills Development & Training

We are passionate about growing talent and precedence is given to investing in our workforce's development; in doing so inspiring higher employee motivation, improved customer service skills and increased customer satisfaction. We work closely with the Capricorn TVET College and the Waterberg TVET College hospitality departments, as well as a number of accredited training providers, in offering a variety of individual development programmes to assist employees at all levels in identifying and fulfilling their full potential.

The company is proud to have trained many young enthusiastic chefs, some of whom have gone on to start their own businesses. Our current staff have all been with the company for many years and we work as a very well knit team.
